

Web App Deployment Using Flask

| n                                                                                                                                              | Code Example                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| stantiate an e Flask d app.                                                                                                                    | 1<pre>from flask import Flask app = Flask(name)</pre>📄☰                                                    |
| r in Flask p URLs to ctions in a cation.                                                                                                       | 1<pre>@app.route('/') def hello_world():     return "My first Flask application in action!"</pre>📄☰        |
| erslly return a tus when from the e method.returned by en you use ) method to a request.ul response is code of sent back iven code | 1<pre>@app.route('/') def hello_world():     return ("My first Flask application in action!", 200)</pre>📄☰ |
| es an est. This d imply the s are improper or t is invalid way.                                                                                | 1<pre>@app.route('/')</pre>                                                                                                      |